Defense Output Being Kept Up

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP).—Production Minister Howe today told the Commons that the government's defense production is being maintained and outlined a program which may result in government defense spending of $1,500,000,000 during the next 12 months.

In the throne-speech debate, Mr. Howe said that in the first six months of the 1951-52 fiscal year, $1,122,000,000 worth of defense orders were placed, compared with $780,000,000 for 1950.

Of a total planned outlay of $5,000,000,000 for men and materials during a three-year period, the defense program calls for building of $1,200,000,000 worth of aircraft.

He said 122 Sabre jet fighters have come off production lines and that 72 have been delivered to the R.C.A.F.

Weatherman Cautious

Victoria's weatherman won't commit himself on the weather for the Royal visit. The outlook is "sunny" for Sunday, he said cautiously, keeping an eye on a low pressure area at the northern tip of Vancouver Island.

The outlook is not an official forecast, he warned.

The low pressure area, which is causing present unsettled weather and rain, is expected to move east, taking bad weather with it.

First official forecast for the visit will be made today.

Better take your umbrella, anyway, when you go to see the Princess—it may be useful in plowing through crowds.

Vancouver Eyes Clocks, Weather as Visit Nears

By LAWRIE JOSLIN
Colonist Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER, Oct. 19.—This has become a city of clock watchers.

With the arrival of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip now only a matter of hours away, Vancouver has become a very time-conscious city.

Excitement is mounting on all sides as city officials attend to last-minute details in preparation for the Royal visit. Many of the downtown business houses have decorated their show windows and flags and bunting are flying from store fronts. Special welcome banners have been hung over the centre of downtown streets.

Everywhere the city is buzzing

Royalty Rides Again

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh rode in an ancient stage coach during their visit to Victoria. Ninety years ago the coach carried the Princess' great-grandfather, later King Edward VII, from Truro to Pictou, N.S., during the Prince of Wales' 1860 Canadian visit. Here an Indian blanket is being laid on the rough earth at the stampee grounds as the Royal couple alight. (CP photo.)

All Kinds Welcome Royal Pair

VANCOUVER, Oct. 19 (CP).—British Columbians, the townfolk, the hunter and trapper and the railway track-walker, today greet the Royal Pair.

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip had a restful day. There were a few stops, but mostly it was a day of travel through snow-covered mountain country.

At Field, three black bears took an interest in the province's Royal guests during an unscheduled appearance of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The bears, a mother and two cubs, lurked on the fringes of a crowd of 400, practically the entire population.

An hour later, the Royal couple were greeted by 500 at Golden, 35 miles farther west.

Today, the larger towns and cities extended official greetings. Thousands welcomed the Princess and Philip at Revelstoke and Kamloops.

At each stop today, where platforms had been swept clear of snow, the Princess was bundled in furs and wore high rubber boots. Philip wore a warm winter coat with a big fur collar.

The children, hundreds of them, got the big break today. The Royal couple spent most of the time at each stop with school boys and girls. Happy, flag-waving five-year-olds were the first to greet them, and civic ceremonies were brief.

Denies Reports Of Curtailment

EN ROUTE WITH ROYAL TOUR, Oct. 19 (CP).—Col. Martin Charteris, private secretary to Princess Elizabeth, tonight took cognizance of press reports that the planned schedule of the Royal tour is taxing the strength of Princess Elizabeth, and said: "She's as fit as a fiddle."

"There is no question about their tiring and it can be categorically denied that there is any question of curtailing the tour," he said.

Parity for Island Asked

City, B.C. Help Sought In Freight Rate Struggle

Aid of the city and province will be sought by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in its fight for freight rate parity with Vancouver.

Chamber directors yesterday heard a report from their freight rates committee, which has been studying two proposals made by the railway association. The committee said either proposal "would work to the further detriment of Victoria," and recommended that the chamber continue to fight for the inclusion of Victoria in a mainland coastal rate zone.

Committee chairman Fred Hawes declared, "We're subsidizing the prairies," which "enjoy ridiculously low rates." The government, he said, "would have to do something about grain rates."

Red Forces Hurlled From Korean Hilltop

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 20 (Saturday) (AP).—Allied forces today threw Red defenders of Kum-song off a hill on the central Korean front. The Communists had taken it during the night in a counter-attack supported by a heavy mortar barrage.

Allied infantrymen were within two miles of the former Red bastion some 30 miles north of Pusan. The Red hub is under heavy Allied artillery fire.

Chinese attacked desperately twice last night, a pooled dispatch from the central front said.

In a morning session, the United Nations representatives suggested a 400-yard-wide corridor between Communist-held Kaesong and Musan to the meeting place at Panmunjom.

Cougars Extend Victories

VICTORIA COUGARS broke their own Pacific Coast Hockey League record of consecutive league games without defeat on home ice, tied the league record of consecutive games without losing, and reclaimed the only unbeaten team in the league at Memorial Arena last night.

They broke out for five last-period goals to trounce Tacoma Rockets, 9-4, and increase their second-place margin over the Rockets and Seattle Ironmen to three points.

It was their third straight victory at home this season and their fourth in five starts. The other was a 2-2 tie at New Westminster.

Full particulars are on page 8.

"Empire Lifeline" Menaced by Anglo-Egyptian Dispute

At left is an aerial view of a stretch of the Suez Canal, Britain's empire lifeline, which is threatened by the current Anglo-Egyptian dispute. The Egyptian parliament voted approval of Premier Mustafa Nahas Pasha's plan to oust British forces from the strategic canal zone by abrogating the 1936 treaty that gives the British the right to station 10,000 men there to protect the canal. A giant floating dock, built in Bombay, India, can be seen on its way through canal to Malta. It is moored to the El Firdan swing bridge in centre. Red Koreans Sent Stalin Felicitations

Premier Thanks Soviet For Unselfish Assistance

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (Saturday) (AP).—In an exchange of greetings, Prime Minister Stalin today wished success to the Korean Communists in their "struggle for freedom and independence."

Stalin's message was in reply to a telegram from Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, which declared that "the help and support given us by the Soviet Union are a firm guarantee of victory in a just war."

The exchange between Stalin and Kim was similar to messages that have passed between them on previous occasions. It marked the third anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic and economic relations between North Korea and the U.S.S.R.

Kim, in his message to Stalin, thanked the Soviet prime minister for "the unselfish help of the Soviet Union" which he said had assisted the Korean People's Republic in developing and strengthening as a democratic republic and a peace-loving country fighting for freedom and independence and peace in the whole world.

The Korean leader's telegram was published prominently in all Moscow morning newspapers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (INS).—The state department charged tonight that Russian leaders have "carried their aggressions to the threshold of a Third World War" in their determination to Communize the world.

The department said in cold and blunt language that "the thin veneer of wartime co-operation between the Soviet Union and its allies melted swiftly away" after the end of hostilities with the axis powers in 1945.

These bitter words were contained in a document issued by the department, entitled "The Kremlin Speaks," which carried excerpts from statements made by Soviet leaders.

The document said that the Soviet Union had "not only failed to live up to its obligations to the United Nations, but has also failed to live up to its obligations to the peoples of the world."

A full report on the investigation by the attorney general's department into the activities of convicted swindler Clyde Gillies, has been requested by the Victoria police commission.

William Scott, one of Gillies' victims, in a letter to the police commission, requested such a report be made public.

Chief Blackstock said he wrote requesting a report from Attorney General Gordon Wismer last Tuesday but has not yet received a reply.

"I don't think we can expect to receive one on such short notice," Commissioner James Neely said. "But I think we are all in agreement—we want a report." Commissioner Brent Murdoch said, "Commissioner Neely said he also wanted a full report on the local police department's investigation into the alleged swindles of Mr. Scott's letter was tabled pending receipt of Mr. Wismer's report."

Drew Outlines Proposals To Hit Growing Inflation

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP).—George Drew, stating that his Progressive Conservative party will vote against a C.P. request for price controls and subsidies, today placed before the Commons a five-point program aimed at fighting inflation.

He said the federal government should:

1. Reduce the cost of government.
2. Increase production by removing restrictions on production.
3. Launch a real building program that will provide the people of Canada with the homes they need.
4. Carry forward a program for the development of Canada's resources.
5. Adopt such selective controls as are needed to hold down the prices of materials or supplies which the government is setting aside for defense purposes.

Notes on the motions will be taken at the conclusion of the debate, possibly some time next week.

Searchers Find Lead to Plane

EDMONTON, Oct. 19 (CP).—A promising lead turned up today as the search progressed for two men missing since Tuesday in northeastern Alberta after their light plane disappeared.

The R.C.A.F. at Edmonton reported that the army wireless station at Fort McMurray, Alta., heard faint signals on the channel which would be used by the missing plane's equipment.

The plane, owned by McMurray Air Services, piloted by W. L. G. Van Allen and carrying one passenger, Dave Evans of Calgary, failed to complete a flight of about 250 miles from Fort McMurray to Goldfields, Sask.

After getting a tip from the army station, one of the five R.C.A.F. search planes also picked up faint signals.

Five air force planes will be out again tomorrow and one will carry a "directional finding" set to the Fort McMurray army station in hopes of learning where the faint signals are coming from.

One plane will carry a three-man air force parachute team for quick action in the event Van Allen's single-engine plane is sighted.

Men, Instruments Delay Atomic War Experiment

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 19 (INS).—Physical exhaustion of the sleepless personnel involved, and the need of rechecking a myriad array of equipment after today's fizzle of an atomic bomb, tonight caused the conductors of history's first atomic war games to call a 24-hour intermission.

The next test is now tentatively set for Sunday morning, about dawn.

It had been hoped earlier in the day that the initial test could be made early tomorrow morning. The faulty circuit from the control point to the 100-foot tower on which the bomb is located was repaired, but scientists and army weapons experts had worked as many as 30 consecutive hours, and hundreds of cameras and scores of other electronic devices must be reset, and will be tomorrow.

Suspension, $300 Fine For Lessard

Gerard Lessard, 24, acquitted Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter and convicted of dangerous driving, was fined $300 and suspended from driving a car for two years.

The original charge arose out of a car crash July 20 at Langford, in which Elmer Rotaas, 18, and Irvine Isaacson, 15, lost their lives.

In handing down sentence, Mr. Justice J. M. Coady told the court that he felt "no useful purpose would be served by a prison term."

The charge of dangerous driving is the lesser of two "included offenses" on which a jury may convict if the accused is found not guilty of manslaughter.

Defense counsel in the case was Joseph McKenna, K.C.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

The Prince and Princess make an unscheduled stop at Yoho, B.C., for the benefit of 125 children, 275 adults and three black bears.

The bears—a mother and two cubs—hang around the fringe of the crowd in 20 degree temperatures, says a news report.

It is refreshing to note that animals have the wisdom to stay in the background while the Royal couple passes by. If only the same could be said of certain human beings, the tour could be much more enjoyable for the Prince and Princess and the onlookers alike.

Visitors would probably much sooner get acquainted with some of the native fauna than face an endless line of stuffed shirts. One hopes that the rigid formality of the Victoria program will be relieved by a few of the happy little unplanned interludes that greeted the visits of Their Royal Highnesses elsewhere.

If the Princess steps down to stroll among the children, or look a black bear in the eye, or poses to pat a friendly dog, a chink will appear in the "brass curtain" of protocol.

People will smile between their cheeks, and remember their future queen is human.

Among all the Victoria people who see her, few will be happier than the old fellows in Veterans' Hospital, who once served her great-grandmother as "soldiers of the queen."

Matches seem to be going on strike. Has anyone noticed the poor quality of most of them in recent months? Two out of five misfire.

We all know how many companies manufacture matches in Canada, don't we? None of these companies can take offense at our criticism, since we might well be talking about the products of a rival firm.

If they do take offense, they will be admitting beyond doubt that they are a monopoly.

Little Johnny One-Note gets his musical chance when a revolutionary system of arranging music to fit the adolescent voice comes into general use.

The system, worked out seven years ago by a London, Ontario, music director and used in all Canadian primary and secondary schools, now is being adopted by U.S. schools. For once, Canada shows the U.S. the way.

Author of the series on "changing-voices" is Don Wright, 43-year-old leader of the Don Wright Chorus which is heard Sundays over the CBC-Dominion network on the "Westinghouse Presents" program. Wright has written three books. Problem was to bridge the gap when boys' voices change. In this stage, many boys can sing only one note. Wright arranged music which started with only one note, gradually increasing the range one note at a time. It gives the fellows confidence.

Now if someone will figure out a way to keep the adolescent voice quiet outside choir practice, we will all be happy.

Posted missing recently was an English setter named "Speck," the property of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Atchison, Lindway Road.

A neighbor of the Atchisons, Mrs. Phyllis Hooper, sent The Colonist an SOS for help in the search.

"Speck" is white, with black spots. "She is a very gentle and loving dog and my three little girls are heartbroken to think she has vanished," Mrs. Hooper writes. "I miss her too." "She has a habit of moving her jaws as though she were chewing gum, because she had dismoper as a puppy. . . . She followed another neighbor to Colquhoun Store, where the lady boarded the bus for town, and Speck never came home. The Atchisons think some hunter, has picked her up and taken her away hunting."

Grinding Poverty in Asia Seen as Worst Problem

Terrible, grinding poverty in Asia is the main problem facing that country, Charles J. Woodworth, editor of The Ottawa Citizen, said here yesterday. Addressing members of the Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel, he said that for those who haven't seen the poverty it is almost "impossible to comprehend."

Mr. Woodworth has traveled widely in Europe and the Far East and is recognized as a leading Canadian authority on Asia.

He recently returned from the fighting front in Korea.

He said Communism was not the main problem. The poverty of the people was more important.

He said the people were prepared to accept anything that would better their way of life.

"If Communism has this to offer they will take it," he said. "What have they got to lose?"

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 19 (C.P.).—Seventy Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in federal penitentiary here may obtain early parole.

The federal department of justice in considering this move on the grounds that the ends of freedom would be served if they were sent back to their homes, prison officials said today.

A government spokesman in Ottawa indicates that Canada's air training program is on its way, but is not yet anywhere near full scale.

Ralph Campney, parliamentary assistant to Defense Minister Brooke Claxton, told Commons Canada's forces have more than doubled in two-and-a-half years, now totaling more than 81,000 men—and were expanding their facilities daily.

In Vancouver Lloyd Igglewiler, commissioner of the B.C. hospital insurance service, reports that the service has paid $45,000,000 for the hospital care of 500,000 patients since Jan. 1, 1949. He added that 85 per cent of the inpatient accounts of that period were covered by B.C.H.I.S.

A note handed to the French charge d'affaires in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, rejected a French note as "entirely false" and warned of what the Kremlin called "the dangerous consequences" of the West's present policy in Europe. The French note had claimed that formation of a European army was of a purely defensive nature.

Speaking at Queen's University in Kingston, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said the government is working out comprehensive plans for federal aid to all Canadian universities in accordance with recommendations of the Massey Commission.

In Berlin, Major Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, U.S. commandant in Berlin, has protested to the Russians against the seizure by East German People's Police of the Steinschuetzen border area in the American sector.

External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson in Ottawa has told Egypt indirectly that Canada thinks no country should try to seize control of the Suez Canal by force. He made his statement of moral support for Britain's stand in Egypt in Commons.

In Vancouver, the Board of Transport Commissioners has reserved decision at the end of inquiry into B.C. Telephone Company's application for rate increase.

The U.N. Security Council in New York has shelved indefinitely the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. Next move appears to be a new attempt by the U.S. to use its good offices toward a settlement by direct negotiation.

Oddities

EDMONTON, Oct. 19 (CP).—Officials of Edmonton's safety week today trailed and found their first perfect driver.

He received 100 points for driving courtesy and traffic rule observance.

But he wouldn't give his name or take the 10-gallons-of-gasoline prize.

He explained he was a commercial traveler and his company expected him to be in another part of the country.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP).—Joe Foley thought it was just another stray autumn leaf. He he took another look: it was a flock of 810 and 820 bills, bound by elastic. Total—$250.

Foley, 50-year-old window display man, said today of his find: "I didn't want any part of that much money. I took it to the nearest bank. Then I called the cops."

Later police got a call from a man who said he'd lost $250, rolled up in an elastic band. It was Hyman Ginsberg, Ginsberg and Foley are old friends.

ASIATIC TERRITORY
British North Borneo has an area of 29,500 square miles and a population estimated at 312,000.

Arbitration Machinery To Be Asked

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Oct. 19 (CP).—Provincial government employees will ask Victoria to set up a board of arbitration similar to that embodied in the Public Schools Act to deal with disputes between the province and its employees.

The B.C. Government Employees' Association, at its eighth annual convention here, passed a resolution today asking the government to set up collective bargaining procedure for its workers.

Compulsory bargaining machinery for employees and employers in private industry has been established by the government, it was pointed out in debate, while no such facilities were available to the government's own employees.

Such arbitration procedure would embody the essential features of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, it was suggested, and would be similar to that used by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Arbitration procedure under the Public Schools Act calls for a board of three, one representing teachers, a second the school trustees, with a chairman approved by both.

War Pensions to Rise; Amount Secret

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP).—The government told Canada's 160,000 war disability pensioners today they are going to get higher pensions, but left them guessing over the size of the increase.

Veterans' Minister Lapointe told the commons that legislation will be introduced at this session of parliament to increase the pension rates, now totaling $100,000,000 a year.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, tried to determine the amount or character of the increase.

Mr. Lapointe said they are—should be greater. Another reason is believed to be that the government has not finally decided itself.

The Canadian Legion has been demanding pension boosts of at least a third and a spokesman said today the organization won't be satisfied with anything less.

Mr. Lapointe's statement at House opening also disclosed that the government has agreed to ask a special commons committee to consider changes in the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

Bests Sabre Jet

PARIS, Oct. 19 (Reuters).—Air experts said yesterday that France's newest jet fighter—the "Mystere"—proved superior to an American F-86 Sabre jet in a recent high-altitude mock dog fight. But the sabre was reported to have put up a better low-altitude performance. The "Mystere" is powered by a British jet engine.

B.C. Chamber Favored

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday approved in principle the formation of a B.C. Chamber of Commerce, and named two delegates to an organizational meeting in Vancouver.

E. W. Arnott and immediate past president Fred Hawes. Mr. Hawes said he favored the plan because it would give B.C. business men a concerted voice in legislative matters. The government's ear would be more accessible to a provincial body, he thought, than to individual

Builders Told They Must Assess Costs Accurately

Members of Victoria Builders' Exchange received a blunt warning in relation to rising building costs at their meeting Thursday night.

"Anyone who cannot assess costs in making tenders shouldn't be in the business," said Richard Hall, president of Vancouver Builders' Exchange.

The Canadian Construction Association does not consider escalation clauses to be in the country's interests, he said.

Mr. Hall spoke after several exchange delegates complained about spiraling costs. Victoria exchange president Jack Pollard said some subcontractors of the new Victoria post office were up against serious promises in the post office work now after submitting bids two years ago.

"Since then labor and material costs have skyrocketed," he added.

Victoria metals contractor S. Anderson suggested either a government subsidy against possible losses or permission for contract escalator clauses.

Guest speaker, D. Arty J. Bald, respect, realistic approach, co-win, labor relations board chair, operation, good faith, tolerance, man, suggested a seven-point and understanding.

Four Positions Arranged For Total of 17,000 Pupils

Seventeen thousand school children will see the Royal procession Monday afternoon.

Pupils from 70 schools as distant as Jordan River and Metochia will line streets five deep, according to height, at four concentrated areas.

There will be 2,000 at Cadboro Bay Road from Cranmore south to Four Bay, 1,000 on Yates from Fort to Cook, 1,000 at Cloverdale and Quadra and 2,000 on Langson from Old Esquimalt Road south.

Children will be taken to vantage points by their teachers and dismissed, following the parade, from their own schools.

It is expected that Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will pass the Cadboro Bay group at about 2 p.m. and the last group in Esquimalt at about 3:15 p.m., by corrected schedule.

All children have been asked to provide themselves with flags, and to dress warmly in case the afternoon is cold or wet.

Children of Grades 1 to III will be taken to and from their positions by bus.

Rare Disease

Strikes Oxford

OXFORD, England, Oct. 18 (Reuters).—A rare disease has sent 131 people here to their beds with high temperatures, severe pains, fever and headaches.

So far 110 children and 21 adults have been hit by the epidemic.

Known as Borborygmi disease, after an outbreak first reported in 1910 from the Isle of Borborygmi in the Baltic—it is believed to be a virus infection. It is not fatal.

But doctors are not sure of its nature and have warned its symptoms should not be confused with those of appendicitis.

Union Action Against Board Set for Friday

Legal action against the Labor Relations Board will be heard next Friday at Vancouver, C.C.L. officials reported here yesterday.

The Maritime Workers and Boatmen's Union, Local 1 (C.C.L.), is asking the Supreme Court to quash a labor board ruling that decertified the union in 10 Vancouver shipyards.

Attorneys filed yesterday charged the board, in making its ruling, acted without jurisdiction, denied the union the right of defense, and admitted illegal evidence.

The union was decertified for refusing to work overtime following a wage dispute.

The 30-month work was jeopardized by the board's decision, the union said.

*MRS. FERGUSON...

You have some Canada Savings Bonds, Mrs. Ferguson? A few. All but one issue, I think.

How did you buy them?

Up to the present we've paid cash for all of them. My husband gave me two, and I paid for the others out of housekeeping money.

Why do you pay cash for them?

We have a plan that what we can't pay for, we don't have. What we have we own, like our house here.

What is your purpose in buying Bonds?

To know that I have saved, and to help when my husband retires. It's a wonderful thing to have for an emergency.

How did you start buying Government Bonds?

I bought a couple of bonds in the First World War when I was out in business in Montreal. These came in handy when I was getting married. I believe it's a good investment because you don't dribble at it the same as if you have some money in the bank. And then the interest is good.

Do you plan to buy the New Canada Savings Bonds? Yes.

NOW BETTER THAN EVER
Canada Savings Bonds—6th Series—mature in 10 years and 9 months from date of issue and bear ten 3 1/2% coupons. The first coupon covers 1 year and 9 months and is payable on August 1st, 1953; subsequent coupons come due August 1st yearly thereafter until maturity. If cashed before August 1st, 1953, simple interest is paid at 2% per year, calculated monthly. If held to maturity the overall yield is equivalent to 3.21% per year. The limit for holdings in any one name is $5,000 in the 6th Series. The bonds are cashable at full face value, plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada. They are registered in the owner's name. They are non-assignable and non-transferable.

*Mrs. Lillian Ferguson, the former Lillian Saunders, lives at 155 Shirley Street, Halifax, and is one of more than a million Canadians who have invested regularly in Canada Savings Bonds. Her husband, Donald A. Ferguson, is supervisor of the money order branch of the Halifax Post Office. Mrs. Ferguson worked as a clerk in Montreal for eight years prior to her marriage.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

If you think today's world is too big for you, you are right. A little lady who was sitting in the front of the bus, looking out the window, was thinking of the world as it was, and how it had changed since she was a girl.

The world is a big place, and it is changing all the time. But it is also a beautiful place, and it is worth living in. We must learn to love the world as it is, and to make the most of it.

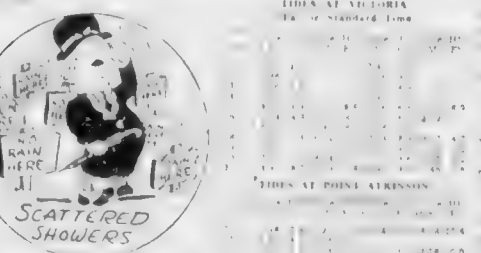

There are many things to be thankful for in this world. There is the sun, the moon, the stars, the flowers, the birds, the trees, and the people. We must learn to appreciate all these things, and to be grateful for them.

Life is a journey, and it is full of adventures. We must learn to face our challenges with courage and determination, and to never give up. We must also learn to love ourselves, and to love the people around us.

The world is a wonderful place, and it is full of so much to see and do. We must learn to explore the world, and to discover all the things it has to offer. We must also learn to be kind to each other, and to live in peace and harmony.

The Mothership of Nations

FROM the days of Alfred the Great, who established the Witenagemot or Council of the Wise, up to the present time there is one gift in pre-eminence which those of British lineage have given to the world, and that is the concept and the example of a constitutional monarchy. From precedent to precedent, with developing checks and balances both for the emancipation of the individual and the curbing of unlicensed power, British genius in the institutions of the King-in-Parliament has carried constitutional monarchy to the highest level it has ever attained in western civilization. Indeed, if the British Commonwealth had made no other contribution to the world, and it has made many, that alone would stand unmatched and unrivalled.

For 10 centuries now, by trial and error with here an advance and there a recession the Mother of Parliaments has worked out a formula for the governance of a living democracy where freedom has its greatest expression within the law. Secure and at ease today, the Throne and all that it stands for is so firmly imbedded in the hearts of British peoples that it has become the capstone of our system, and the rallying point around which the British Commonwealth has ever braced itself in fair weather and in foul to meet every outward shock. Secure within, pledged to a constitution that is now deeper in the blood than any promise that could be written upon paper, through the centuries this has been and will continue to be our bulwark and our strength.

The deeply personal relationship between monarch and subject, between King and Parliament, is of comparatively later-day growth. It has been fostered immeasurably by those very storms and threats which have blown up so swiftly within the last century. It has been a long stride from the stilted nineteenth-century relationship of the monarch of the twentieth century, from the remoteness of Queen Victoria, with all her devotion and faithfulness to the British cause, to the Christmas Day broadcasts of George VI and of his successor, our beloved George VII. Not the least of the British Commonwealth's delight and confidence in the Throne these days is founded on the knowledge, secure and unshakable, that these very precious gifts are in safe hands; and that what Joseph Conrad called the "Mothership of Nations" rides supreme and calm where reason has its fount.

A New Outlook Is Needed

THERE is the promise of Veterans Minister Lapointe that legislation will be introduced at the current session of parliament to boost war veterans' disability pensions. Persistent representations, it would seem, are about to pay off.

Pleas of veterans for higher pensions are so recurrent as to be like the seasons, they follow with insinuating regularity—but for very good reason. Federal authorities have continually refused to relate outdated pension scales to the cost-of-living index they publish every month, basically associated though these pensions are. It is anomalous that allowances tied to some reality when originally granted should be blandly ignored when almost every other kind of payment in the country has been forced to new-high levels by inflation.

What is really required is a new deal entirely for the pensioned veteran, a fresh beginning from scratch based on present costs of living and not those of five or six years ago. Until this materializes veterans throughout the country will feel let down by the land for which they incurred their disabilities.

How far the proposed legislation will go Mr. Lapointe does not and at the moment may not be in a position to say. No peacetime dabbler here and there will be of much avail, however, and the government would be wise to tackle the whole veterans' pension program with a new and more generous outlook.

Public Money Wasted

FROM time to time illustrations are afforded of what it costs in the public's money to search the sea or forest wilderness for people who embark on foolhardy escapades and adventures, who knowingly or unknowingly risk their own lives to no useful purpose without thought of the consequences to others. A striking example of this was reported recently in Ontario.

Two brothers, one in his thirties and old enough to have shown better judgment, the other in his late teens, set out to cross Lake Erie in a 12-foot plywood dinghy. Although no serious harm befell them, they were for 34 hours the object of an intensive search which cost the taxpayers an estimated $10,000, to say nothing of the anxiety caused to relatives and the time and fuel wasted by individuals who joined in the search.

The R.C.A.F. spent $5,000 keeping aircraft aloft to scour the lake, and had to suspend an important training schedule in order to do so. A large government-owned tug had to be diverted from urgent operations. Lake freighters were alerted by radio to watch; the U.S. Coast Guard was asked for and gave help, and dozens of tugs, fishboats and pleasure craft were pressed into service. More than 40 vessels in addition to the aircraft were involved in this costly and, as it turned out, needless effort. The money thus wasted was other people's money.

It is well for those who undertake unnecessary adventures to know what is entailed in rescuing them if they become lost or get into difficulties. The cost in money is had enough, but far too often human lives are lost as well in searching for people who don't realize or don't care that the taking of senseless risks may involve others.

NELSON AND TRAFALGAR

Sir, I am now 106 years old and the Battle of Trafalgar was fought on Oct. 21, 1805. The British had to use the wind to chase the enemy and did not open fire until they were within 100 yards. The British were in the middle of the enemy's line and it was from the tops of the masts that Nelson received his death wound at 1:30 p.m.—Captain Thomas Masterman Hardy was able to report victory to Nelson before he died.

In all 19 ships were lost by the enemy, out of a total of 34 ships. The British had 24 ships in all Nelson was a great commander. He had early won the confidence and love of officers in the navy. His achievements amounted to genius. What was his genius?

Let me reply. What would have been the result of St. Vincent and Copenhagen had Nelson not been there? In both cases he showed the true stamp of a leader, one who is always doing the right thing to be done, and in doing it without the loss of a moment.

In the battles of the Nile and Trafalgar he showed another side of leadership, a swordlike mentality to produce brilliant tactics. These two attributes in themselves comprise leadership. But even they were not all. Nelson possessed the one great requisite to him above other leaders, above the high level of front rank leaders. He possessed that elusive quality so rare amongst otherwise big men. It was the rare quality of personal charm, which inspired all the essential team spirit. Officers trusted his ability to be brilliant in his work and he got out of them a willing desire to obey his orders, even to his slightest wish.

He possessed firmness, much tact, and great personal charm. So we can add a brilliant tactical brain to the charm which causes officers to respect him. The Nile was his first independent responsibility as an admiral in charge of a fleet. He had his captains again and again on board his ship in conference about tactics. He inspired them. He infected them with his enthusiasm, charmed them with his manners and personality, and no doubt amazed some with his skill not only in command but in all round ability. And he possessed their interests. All of which makes him a leader in any age.

It is no wonder that even today, famous naval officers study his command as a great model.

B.C. LIQUOR LAWS

Sir, I agree with Mr. S. Anderson, of the Colonist, who wrote about B.C.'s existing liquor laws in your paper of Oct. 17. It is not necessary to repeat Mr. Anderson's words, yet I feel that the province has the decidedly wrong approach to this subject.

I occasionally visit Washington State and the liquor is handled sanely enough. Bars are frequent but with a complete lack of rowdiness. A few of the more respectable from 21 to 24 cents per drink, and the restaurants, caterers here, I believe, need to emulate it.

Wine, as we know, has been an accepted traditional part of life in Europe.

Could we not modify the laws somewhat in line with Ontario's present system?

I am sure a better feeling will develop both politically and socially to say nothing of the rise in tourist trade.

PHONE RATE INCREASE

Sir, Looks as if we may be faced another increase on our phone bills. I have been on the phone for thousands of years. It's a good company to work for.

That is all right, but the other side of the picture is the one who has to pay, or do without a necessity, which many may do, so people on the waiting list will get one in short time, replacing customers who have subscribed for nearly 35 years if there are any more increases. I read in the paper what an assistant professor of economics said at a meeting: That if the increase is granted, it means a 14 per cent boost in rates.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbage and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I WOULD be out of fashion this morning, I suppose, were I to discuss any topic other than the Royal visit.

It happens also that on the eve of the visit, I was reading a "Royal Diary" in the Illustrated London News.

It is a short documentary that tells the story of the family life of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

If this afternoon or tomorrow you secure only a passing glimpse of the Royal couple, and I'm afraid that is all that most adults will get, I would advise you to see this film. It will be a recompense.

Essentially it illustrates one thing that Elizabeth and her husband, with their children, are akin to the families that are getting ready to cheer them here.

This is the angle that gets smoothed in poster and gold, but it is what counts most and what is really important towards the monarchy.

Four officials across Canada haven't realized this as they should. The eight-hour program arranged for tomorrow in the city, for example, is full of overblown ceremonial receptions but scant consideration for the general public.

The brass curtain complained about elsewhere in the Dominion is all too evident here too.

It is not the Royal visitors' fault, nor do they arrange the details, and in fact tomorrow they will have only about ten minutes in private to draw their breath. But the route schedules make it impossible to be practically whisked from one place to another.

Perhaps the multitude of official greetings cannot be avoided on Royal tours, but some way should be found to let the people have a longer look at their guests. To Elizabeth and Philip it must seem as though they're shaking the same official hand all across the country. Protocol keeps them from it, but it's not too hard to break the private thoughts.

After tomorrow, however, they will have temporary release. They deserve it.

School children, if the pace of the cars as they pass is commensurate with the excitement, will manage to get the best glimpse of the Royal couple, and no one would deny them this pleasure. I'm glad that the Veterans' Home is involved at last in the tour, thanks to the vigorous representations of Mrs. Jean Chisholm and the ladies of the hospital auxiliary. It would have been invidious beyond all words that outsiders in a Toronto jail should have special arrangements made for them to see the Princess as she passed, and crippled veterans in Victoria denied a look at the daughter of the King they served.

The Princess' personal intervention came, the omission came to her notice is a rebuke in official words, minds seem to freeze at the mere thought of royalty. The happy result will mean glad hearts for patients prevented by war wounds from seeing their own places in the community life to welcome the Royal visitors.

All that remains now is for the sun to shine if not today most certainly tomorrow. Victoria will take this Royal young couple to their hearts and make that fact amply evident, without a doubt. But let the heavens ring when they drive along, so that they'll remember in the years to come that in this far outpost of the Commonwealth they have a host of friends and warm admirers.

I had hoped to think aloud on Tuesday morning about my own impression of the Princess and the Duke, at close range, gained from a fortunate vantage point already arranged for tomorrow's program. But unfortunately a personal bereavement will take me out of the city.

Royal Residences in Dominions?

By H. J. J. SARGENT, From London

LONDON The cancellation of the King's visit to Australia and New Zealand at the brilliant success of the visit to the Dominion of Canada has led to the possibility of a visit to the Dominion of Canada.

It should be remembered that the almost permanent stay of the King in Britain is a matter of course, a historical continuity and perhaps a political convenience but there is a real, an unwritten constitution of the British Commonwealth to present the Royal Family of Britain from living in one place, Canberra, Wellington or Cape Town.

The King as the wearer of the Crown, which is the link in the chain of the Commonwealth, is just as much King of Canada or King of Australia as he is King of Great Britain and it would have been as King of Australia and of New Zealand that he would have been visiting those countries next year, but for his illness.

This idea of the King's stay in overseas Dominions is being canvassed in London in certain small circles which are interested in and know something about the British constitution and it may be said that any plan to enable the Royal Family to live overseas at regular intervals, not as visitors but as residents in the great Dominions, would be received with much sympathy in Britain, and with immense delight in those Dominions.

As the King enters his period of convalescence, the problem of home or overseas residence is under review. It is not yet clear what the King's plans will be, but it is known that as far as possible the King's illness should be a result of his inability to be present, and the Queen has agreed to attend alone these functions to which she was to have accompanied the King.

The Queen will be present at the Commonwealth and from performing duties on Oct. 21 and Nov. 3 respectively. These performances are the high-water mark of the variety and form of the Royal Family's duties. The Queen is attached to the presence at these functions of a senior member of the Royal Family. The fact is observed that the performances are organized and carried out by direct command of the King and constitute the Royal residence of the two princesses concerned.

Most affectionate concern is being displayed about the health of the Queen. Since the King's illness, the Queen has remained almost constantly at Buckingham Palace and indeed she has scarcely left the palace except to attend divine service in the private chapel of the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth.

The Queen's health is so delicate that it is not possible to say whether she will be able to attend the Commonwealth tour or not. It is known that the Queen's health is so delicate that it is not possible to say whether she will be able to attend the Commonwealth tour or not.

With the development of air travel such a plan could be carried out with a minimum of fuss and bother. The idea is not new, but it is not yet clear what the King's plans will be, but it is known that as far as possible the King's illness should be a result of his inability to be present, and the Queen has agreed to attend alone these functions to which she was to have accompanied the King.

The Queen will be present at the Commonwealth and from performing duties on Oct. 21 and Nov. 3 respectively. These performances are the high-water mark of the variety and form of the Royal Family's duties. The Queen is attached to the presence at these functions of a senior member of the Royal Family. The fact is observed that the performances are organized and carried out by direct command of the King and constitute the Royal residence of the two princesses concerned.

Most affectionate concern is being displayed about the health of the Queen. Since the King's illness, the Queen has remained almost constantly at Buckingham Palace and indeed she has scarcely left the palace except to attend divine service in the private chapel of the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth.

Princess Elizabeth's Life in Pictures

A glimpse of young Elizabeth.

As a little girl, Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mother and daughter enjoying a sunny day.

Elizabeth at a young age.

The young couple.

The princess at her desk.

Even a princess has her work.

That is Princess Elizabeth in her wedding dress, as she stands at the altar, the bride, at the wedding ceremony.

These were the days of the young couple's life.

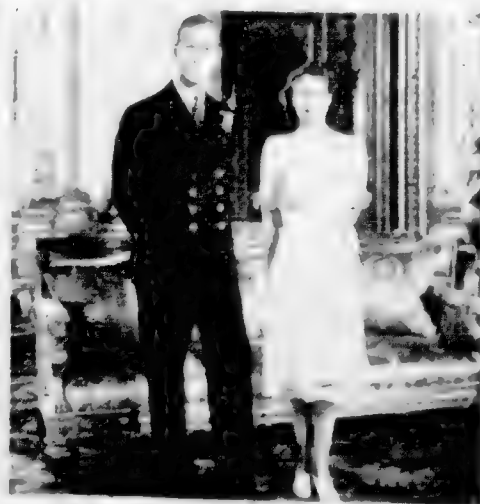

A lovely young girl.

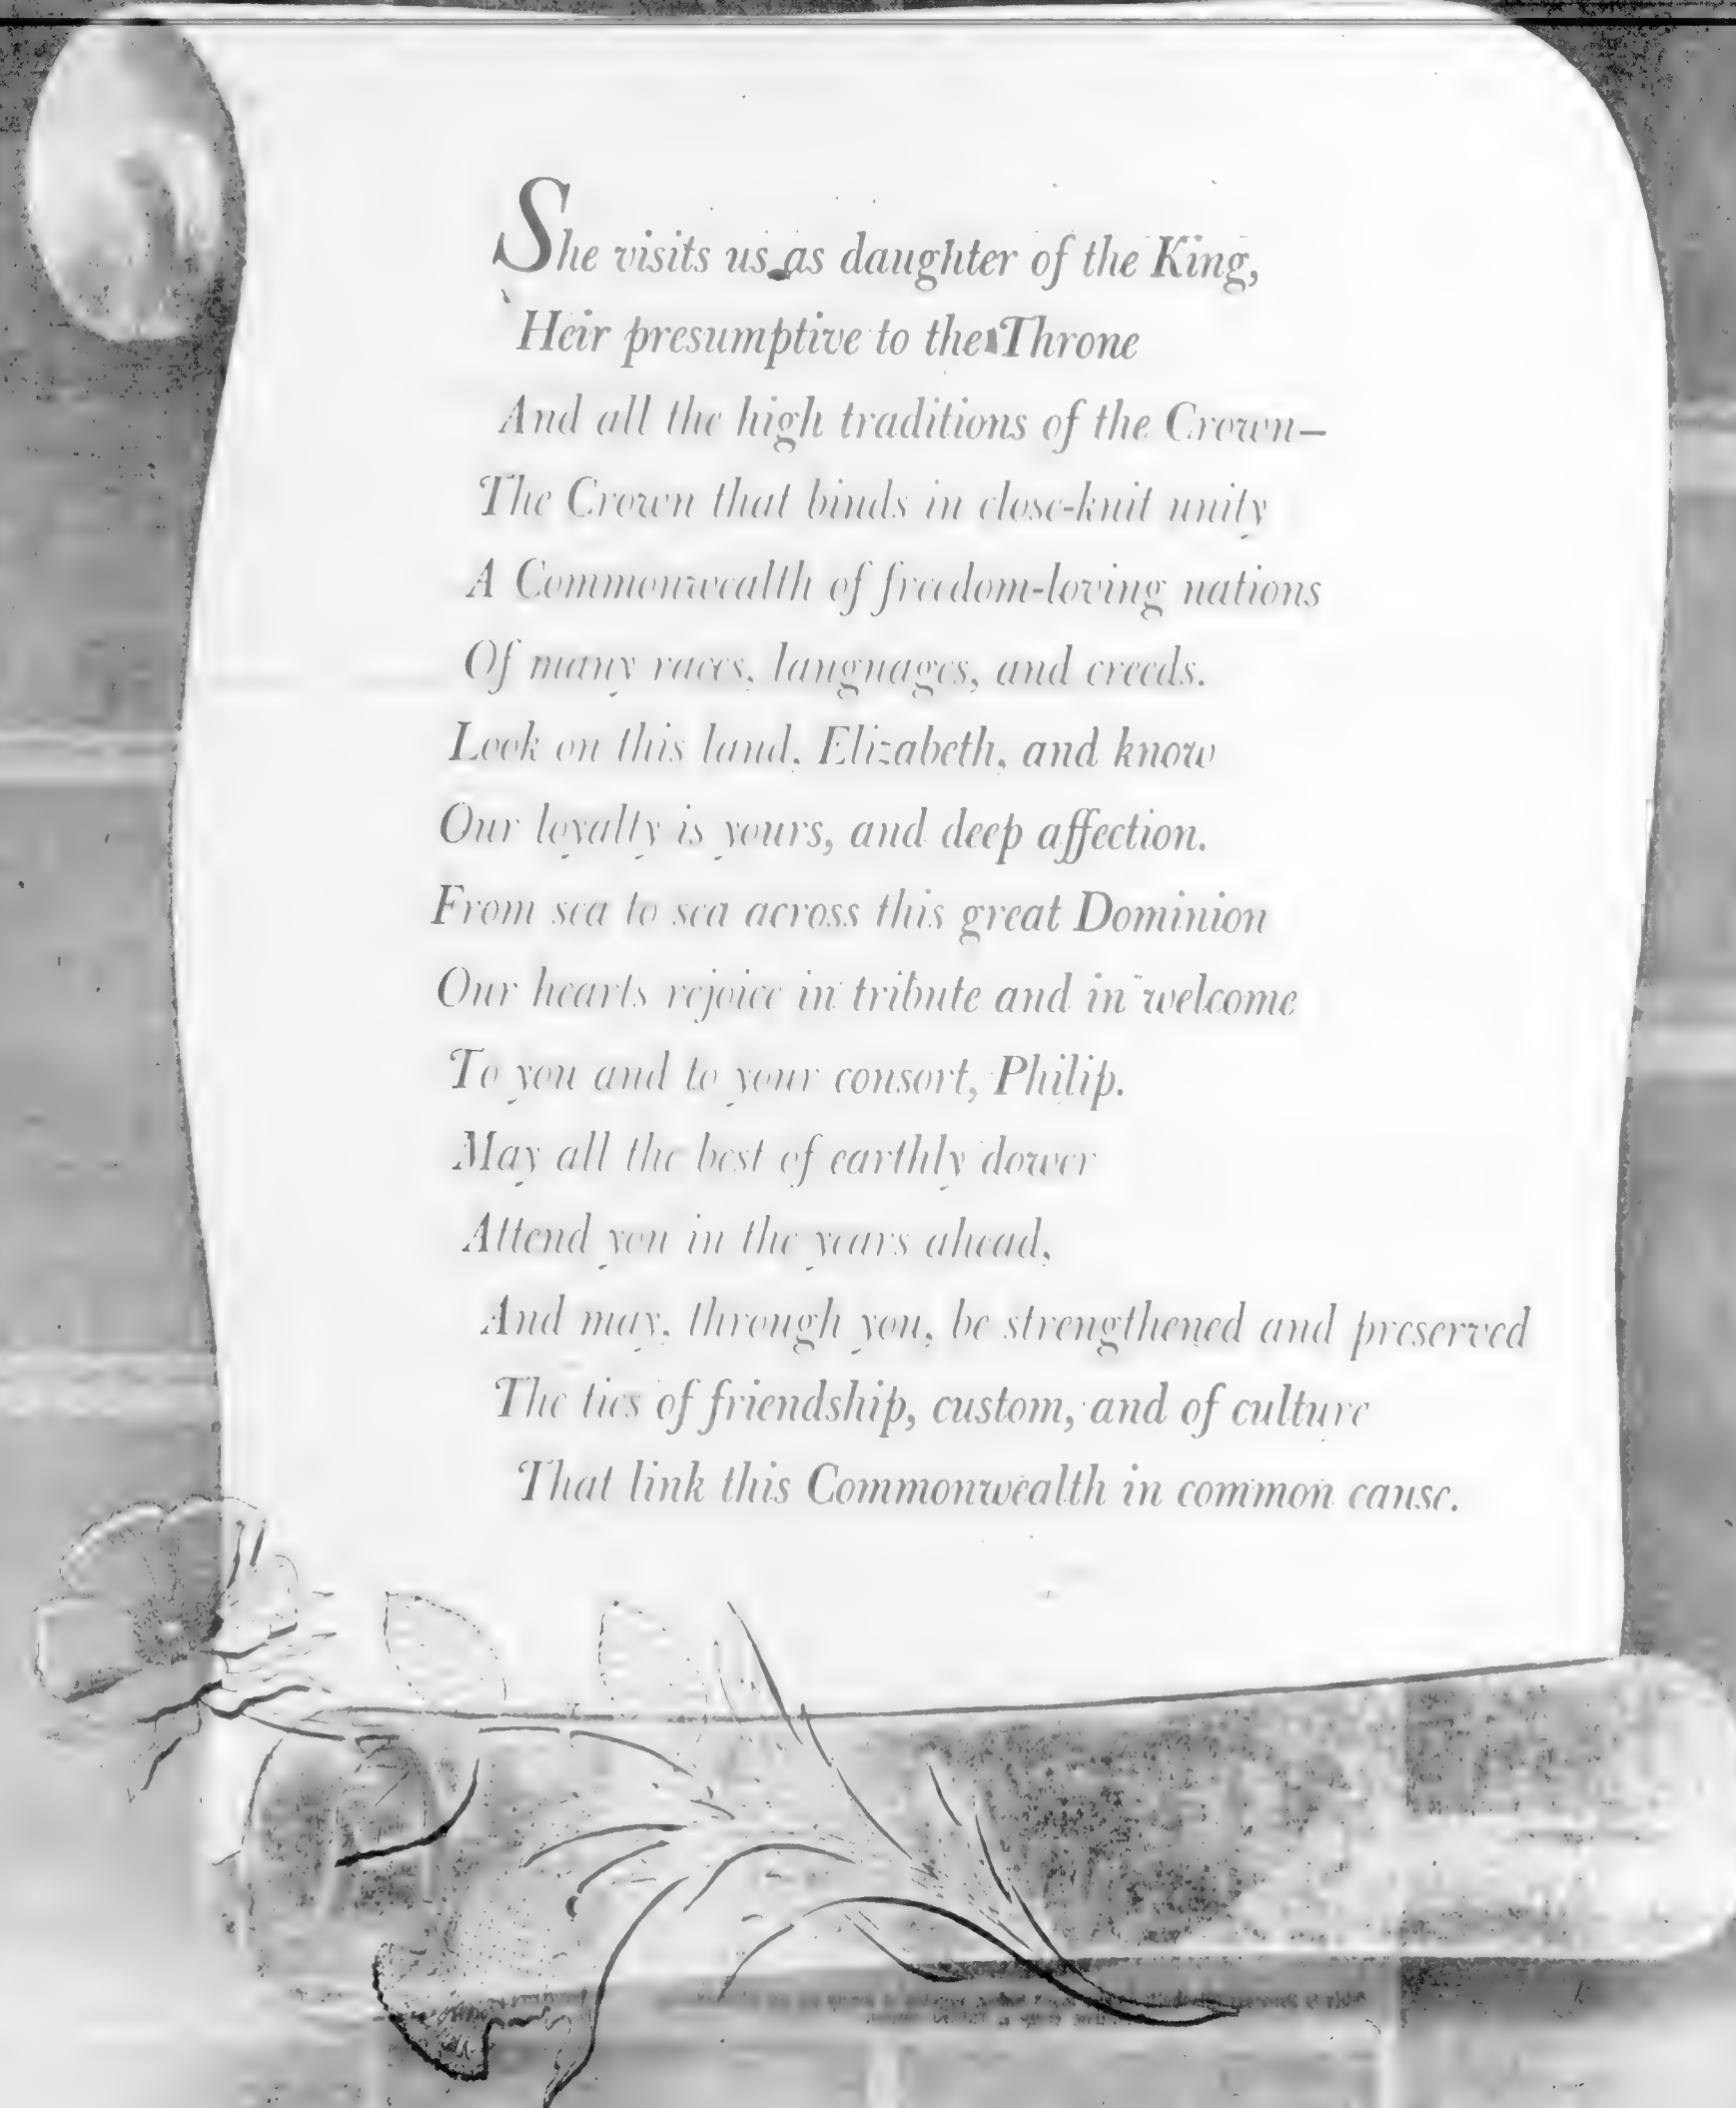

A portrait view on the threshold of womanhood.

After receiving an honorary degree.

On the eve of her marriage to Prince Philip.

*She visits us as daughter of the King,
Heir presumptive to the Throne
And all the high traditions of the Crown—
The Crown that binds in close-knit unity
A Commonwealth of freedom-loving nations
Of many races, languages, and creeds.
Look on this land, Elizabeth, and know
Our loyalty is yours, and deep affection.
From sea to sea across this great Dominion
Our hearts rejoice in tribute and in welcome
To you and to your consort, Philip.
May all the best of earthly dower
Attend you in the years ahead,
And may, through you, be strengthened and preserved
The ties of friendship, custom, and of culture
That link this Commonwealth in common cause.*

Rigid Control Needed To Halt Hunting Errors

It is a common knowledge that the hunting season is now open in British Columbia. The Department of Game and Fisheries has issued a number of regulations to govern the hunting of game animals. It is the responsibility of every hunter to read and understand these regulations and to follow them to the letter. Failure to do so can result in the loss of a license, a fine, or even imprisonment.

One of the most common errors made by hunters is the failure to read the regulations carefully. Many hunters believe that they know the rules, but when they are out in the field, they often forget or misinterpret them. This can lead to the hunting of protected species or the use of illegal methods. To avoid these errors, hunters should read the regulations thoroughly and keep them with them at all times.

Another common error is the failure to use proper hunting techniques. Many hunters use illegal methods such as poisoning or trapping to kill game animals. This is not only illegal, but it is also inhumane. Hunters should use proper hunting techniques and only hunt for sport or food. They should also be careful not to hunt in protected areas or during closed seasons.

It is the responsibility of every hunter to read and understand these regulations and to follow them to the letter. Failure to do so can result in the loss of a license, a fine, or even imprisonment.

With the opening of the hunting season, many hunters are flocking to the mountains and forests of British Columbia. It is a great time to enjoy the outdoors and to hunt for sport or food. However, it is also a time when hunters must be extra careful to follow the regulations and to use proper hunting techniques. Only by doing so can we ensure that the hunting season is a successful and enjoyable one for all.

SAVE FUEL... SAVE MONEY!
Are you not getting the most out of your furnace?
Did you know that fuel savings plans usually pay for a new G-E Automatic Furnace or Boiler?
And did you know that with this entirely new kind of furnace or boiler...

GENERAL ELECTRIC OIL HOME HEATING

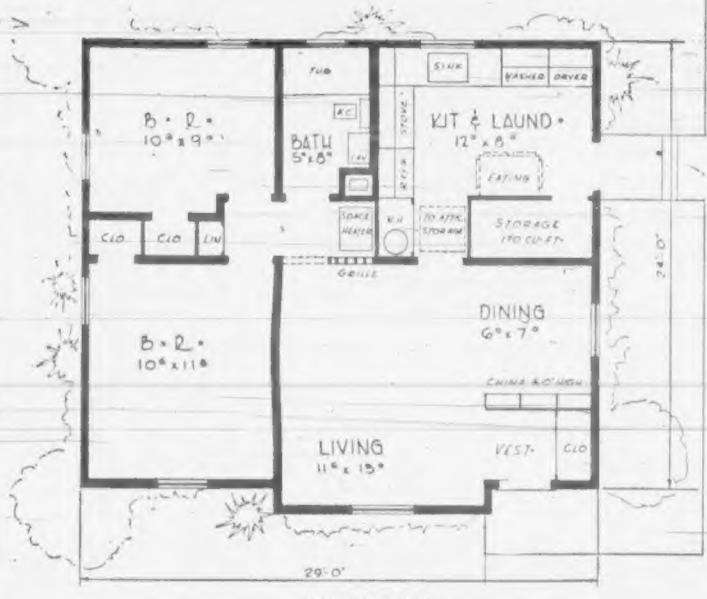

LOOK AT THESE G-E FEATURES AND COMPARE:
* Furnace E-T "Turbo" Rank
* "Auto-matic" low pressure steam boiler
* "Control" Expansion by G-E
* Super sensitive controls and safety features
* FREE home heating survey. A phone call does it!

The completely automatic General Electric Oil Boiler or Furnace gives you greater comfort at amazingly low cost. Reason—because unlike ordinary oil home heating equipment each of these units is designed from the ground up and engineered by G.E. to burn oil efficiently; they are not merely old-fashioned "blow torch" type oil burners packed in a boiler or furnace and covered with a jacket.

HOUSE NO. H-18

Here's an economy home with real appeal, and the blueprints show not only the front treatment above, but two additional exterior styles as well! The room layout in each case is as shown here.

The L-shaped living and dining area gives an air of spaciousness to this part of the house not often found in low-cost homes. Notice the three-section china cabinet which cleverly forms a partition to screen the dining area, and provides a vestibule and handy coat closet.

This little house contains less than 8,200 cubic feet but in it are all the facilities of a much larger home. Architect prepared blueprints and material list available for $10. Include details for building both with or without basement. They may be obtained by writing to the Advertising Department of The Daily Colonist, enclosing cheque or money order. Delivery takes approximately two weeks.

Heating System, Radiation Important In Both New and Modernized Homes

Installation and location of over them. A convector radiator can be completely hidden in the wall with only a cold air intake grille and a warm air outlet.

A convector radiator may also be enclosed in a cabinet with openings at top and bottom and placed in the room. The new baseboard radiation, in which steam or hot water circulates through an iron core and heats thin metal fins, is a type of convector. Such an installation takes the place of a baseboard and extends entirely along the outside walls.

It is relatively simple to modernize and improve the efficiency of any heating system already installed in an existing house.

Thermal insulation has such a great bearing on the efficiency of a heating plant that engineers recommend that in any modernization of a heating system, the home-owner should also consider the feasibility of having the walls full of mineral wool and placing a 2" layer of this material above the top floor ceiling. Repeated tests have shown that a house so insulated will require less fuel during a heat season.

In the case of an outmoded gravity warm air plant, the installation of air filters and a blower fan will convert it into a forced air system.
